CAUSE

As a special condition of the special term of supervised release, Fields was ordered to reside at Hampshire House, a residential re-entry center. His time there was turbulent, and he was cited for numerous infractions. Most notably, he admitted that he ingested twice the amount of his prescribed medication (buprenorphine) on several occasions. After staff members at Hampshire House discovered and tried to address this, Fields confronted them using derogatory terms. A termination summary completed by Hampshire House Assistant Director Paul Jacques reflects that, "Mr. Fields has become increasingly difficult and he has now become verbally abusive toward staff." As such, on July 22, 2021, Fields was removed from Hampshire House.

Since his removal from Hampshire House, Fields has resided with his new wife in Manchester, NH. He was assessed by several substance abuse treatment providers who recommended an intensive outpatient (IOP) level of treatment. The probation officer will work in conjunction with Fields' current treatment provider to make an appropriate referral for the suggested treatment.

Fields' conduct and decision-making regarding his medication and subsequent confrontation with Hampshire House staff was unacceptable. The probation officer respectfully opines that a sanction is necessary to hold him accountable for his decisions, encourage future positive decision-making, and reduce risk. On July 28, 2021, the probation officer spoke with Fields about his behavior. Both the probation officer and Fields agreed that a curfew with electronic monitoring (as detailed above) is an appropriate response. This intervention is aimed at 1) sanctioning Fields for his noncompliance, 2) allowing him to remain in the community while he participates in substance abuse treatment, and 3) promoting structure and accountability. Fields agreed with this intervention as evidenced by the attached waiver. Should he demonstrate further noncompliance, the probation officer will notify the Court with a recommendation.
